Aleksandr Pushkin is, by common agreement -- at least among his own compatriots -- the greatest of all Russian writers. The major part of his lyrical poetry was written between 1820 and 1830, but some of his poetical masterpieces were composed in the last seven years of his life, when he was turning his attention to prose.

The scope of this volume, however, is limited to Pushkin's love poetry – though it is astonishing how even the love poems span most of the forms mentioned in the first paragraph. Of Pushkin's total output of short poems his love poetry accounts for only perhaps a quarter. Even within this group we have had
